Québec City

The first permanent French settlement in North America has maintained its authentic French flavour for over 400 years. Named a UNESCO World Heritage Site, Old Québec is of unequalled historical and cultural heritage interest, with its architecture, pedestrian streets and fortifications, all of which are unique in North America. In July, the city comes alive with its Summer Festival, the largest outdoor arts festival in Canada.

The region also offers a great variety of outdoor activities. Surrounded by mountains, lakes, rivers and the majestic Saint Lawrence River, Québec City is the ideal destination, in any season, for anyone who loves the great outdoors

The Site

Campers stay at the Centre de Plein Air Le Saisonnier in Lac-Beauport, a natural haven only 15 minutes from beautiful downtown Québec City. They share rooms with 4 to 8 other campers and have access to daily showers, full utilities and all the necessary amenities. The center offers 3 hot meals and snacks every day. Lunches are provided for off-site excursions. You can rest assured that no effort will be spared to ensure a safe, comfortable and enjoyable stay

Serving youth since 1942, Le Saisonnier is a non-profit organisation dedicated to educational and outdoor recreational life. Its mission is to raise youth awareness to life in the great outdoors, appreciation for nature and to stimulate human interaction in an enriching setting. The centre offers both stay-over and day camps and hosts groups from various schools and organizations. It can accommodate up to 250 stay-over visitors and over 1000 daily visitors.

The site is home to:

- The Insectarium of Québec;
- A flying trapeze operated in collaboration with the École de Cirque de Québec, Québec City's own circus school;
- Siberia Station Spa, a Scandinavian-inspired outdoor spa station.

The Program

The 3-week program is designed to provide a total French Immersion experience to high school aged youth. Every day, campers will attend French workshops with language specialists designed to help them communicate effectively in French. Language skills are reinforced through interactive activities and games that recreate actual events that campers are likely to encounter.

The center welcomes over 600 francophone day campers. The French Immersion campers will have no shortage of opportunities to make friends and interact with them through the many camp activities offered daily, including: archery, challenges trail, hiking excursions, swimming, soccer games, etc.

Two or three times a week, campers will be treated to an off-site excursion to explore the region's many attractions. Accompanied by their counsellors and language specialists, they will come into contact with the region's francophone residents and have the opportunity to practice what they have learned.
